PEACE COMING TO MEXICO

Agua Calientes Mex. Nov. 16.—Everything points to early peace. Villa accepted Carranza's proposal that both of them leave the country and Provisional President Guiterrez is preparing to leave for Mexico City at once. A complete transfer of government will take place. In accepted exile Villa warned Guiterrez against possible trickery by Carranza.

NEAT MAY VOICES FOR WOMEN DAY

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 16.—The suffragettes at this convention today adopted the first Saturday in May as the day for nation-wide celebration of votes for women.

SOME COTTON, THIS.

From his plantation near Campbellton, Fla., T. J. Bonds of Nashville, has hauled 84 bales of cotton in 16 wagons to Dothan today. The procession attracted a great deal of attention.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE COMPELLED TO RETIRE

Petrograd, Nov. 16.—Russian troops that invaded Turkish Armenia were compelled to retire as officially admitted today. The statement says Russian advance met the main Turkish force and withdrew to a position designated by the Russian commanders.

An attempt by the Turks to recapture Khannessouk Pass was repulsed. The main Russian forces have not been seriously engaged yet.

GAMBLERS CAUGHT.

Six colored gamblers having a profitable time in the eastern part of the city were flushed by Police Officer Horace Daugherty about 11 o'clock this morning and brought to the police station for trial.

COLORED PASTOR ARRESTED; DEACONS WOULD EJECT LANG

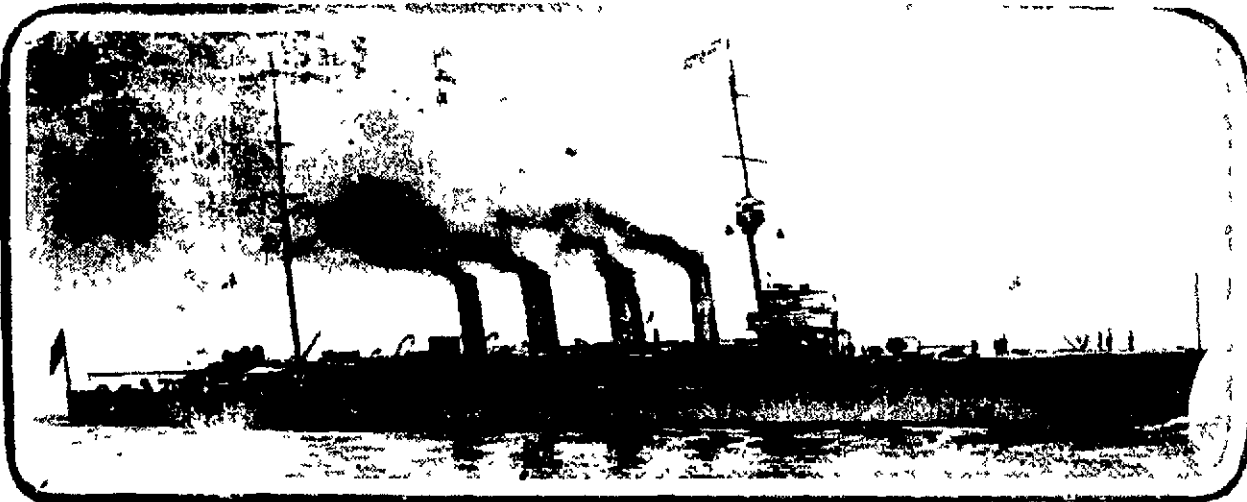

There is discord in the affairs of the Second Baptist Church, colored, links with that curiosity known only of Frogtown. Dissension has entered the lord's house and the members of the congregation are divided—hopelessly divided. It would of the law greatly interested (two seem

Last night, about the hour when good Christians are supposed to be ward sons of Ham let loose what they thought to be a proper and, spurning the things here below, Police Officers F. O. Spivey and Horace Daugherty were called from the Frogtown and brought back the Rev. C. A. Lang, who claims to be pastor of the church.

The inconsequential fact that the deacons and board of stewards of the Second Baptist church dispute the claims of Lang, whom they as a pretender, has not in the least abated the ardor of the preacher nor the determination of his followers.

Arriving at the police station, Lang, after making a $200 bond to appear in court on a charge of trespassing, showed a disposition to tell his story to the crowd, but was ordered to clear out by the officers. He told his troubles to the court and weight and fitness, and that at the proper time. Lang experienced no difficulty in making bond, position because that what it takes for he was followed by a number of sympathizers, including a "called

UNION STOCK YARDS RE-OPEN

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The Union Stock Yards reopened today and slaughtering was resumed after ten days' suspension on account of foot and mouth disease among the cattle. About a third of the usual number were slaughtered.

Hogs were forty cents higher, cattle and sheep unchanged. Forty thousand employees will be back at work by Wednesday.

GUARANTEES OF LIFE AND PROPERTY FOR FOREIGNERS

Washington, Nov. 16.—Guarantee of life and property to all foreigners and promises to establish equitable rule in Mexico was received by President Wilson from Provisional President Guiterrez today.

PEOPLE HIT HARDER THAN RAILROADS

Railroads in Alabama are asking the Railroad Commission to permit the increase of freight rates. The increase ranging from 10 to 50 percent. The railroads are not hit half as hard as the people. The greater part of the trouble of increased earnings is on account of the non-movement of cotton and it is also a revenue disaster. For the roads will later on move every bale of 1914's large crop. It can be moved by wagon. On the other hand, the cotton producer and the merchant have already irretrievably lost on the same products on which the railroads seek to increase the rates.

UNVEILINS FOR LEE I. DRIGGERS

Notwithstanding the fact that an excellent program had been prepared, local members of the Woodmen of the World did not attend the unveiling ceremony at the cemetery yesterday afternoon in honor of the late Lee I. Driggers. A well-attended ceremony was held.

While the local attendance was not as large as anticipated, a representative number of Woodmen from adjoining camps were present to witness the ceremony. Among the visitors were N. D. Adcock, commander of the camp at Albany, Ga., who brought 15 choppers from the Georgia city.

The memorial address was delivered by Ernest H. Hill, while an interesting paper was read by Miss Esther Foster, principal of the Rose Hill school. Both were greatly appreciated.

HOUSTON COTTON CROP IS SHORT 1,629 BALES

Showing a decrease of 1,629 bales of cotton planted in Houston county from the crop of 1913 prior to November 1, 1914, compared to the number of bales planted prior to November 1, 1913, the report of John M. Dykes, agent of the government, has been submitted.

The report of Mr. Dykes shows there were 26,000 bales of cotton ginned in this county from this year's crop prior to November 1, 1914, as compared with 27,629 bales ginned prior to November 1, 1913.

REPORT DEATH OF 3,000 GERMANS

Paris, Nov. 15.—The destruction of three German troops by British forces was announced this afternoon. The statement says that British forces in Belgium have been successful in cutting and burning at point of view of water battle. Confirmed principally by artillery fire.

The Germans were reported in an attempt to cross the Yser river by a bridge. A complete attack by the British on the front of Arras failed. In the Arras region German troops attacked St. Hubert without success. Only minor engagements have occurred elsewhere.

BRITISH CRUISER AND TWO BOATS DISABLED

Berlin, Nov. 16.—A dispatch from Geneva reports the British cruiser Brilliant and gunboats Falcon and Rhinoceros have been disabled by German submarines on the Belgian coast.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell because it's done so naturally. So easily. Preparing this mixture though at home is money and time. For 50 cents you can buy it any drug store. It's ready to use. Tonic called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger. 12 days.

Dothan Has Original Near-Hanged Man

While Georgia raves over its near-hanged establishments, as the political pendulum swings to and fro and other cities have many near-hung men, it might be well to note that Dothan has the original near-hung man, although he committed no crime to justify such punishment.

Back in the days of the past, it does not matter particularly how many have passed. F. L. Lubank, a plumber and electrician who was with William Allen & Company has an experience that would try the soul of a strong man and until this good day he bears the mark of what almost lost his life—one of his most valuable assets.

At the age of twelve, while playing hooky with a crowd of his friends, Lubank, for some reason that is not known to the writer, was selected as the most fit fellow in the group and his execution was forthwith planned by the cowboys.

A rope was fastened around Lubank's neck and he was strung to the nearest place that happened to be adaptable for a first class hanging. After being suspended unconsciously for some time, while seconds seemed like years, the rope snapped and Lubank was saved.

Lubank has never been able to discover why some charming maiden didn't happen along and cut the rope with a bullet as it happens in the movies, but no such good luck he had to be content with a common rope that had none of the elements of romance. His neck still bears the scars where the rope cut into the flesh. Since that day Lubank has worked with a direct, can pull down a salary as an electrician, plumber or machinist, and his goodness only knows what other trades he has picked up in his journey. 12 days.

Mrs. W. Goodby Loew.

New York, Nov. 16.—Mrs. William Goodby Loew has announced that the Commission Shop for Women's Work will open on Monday at 265 Madison Avenue. The object of the Commission Shop is to furnish an outlet for the products of woman's effort at a time when the proceeds of that effort are needed. If they were ever or never needed before. There are a number of women in New York who do beautiful work with the needle and are now hard pressed for money because of the present stringency. Such women may dispose of their products through the medium of the shop without ever having to identify themselves with the various articles.

$14 FOR NEED AT COLUMBIA.

The cotton seed buyers at Columbia, were paying $14 a ton last week, and the buyers here paying $12. Probably the limits will be better this week. If the price isn't better, the seed should be held until the price goes up. There is no reason why as much shouldn't be paid for seed here as anywhere.

BACK TO THE FARM.

Never since that old back-to-the-farm movement was started has it been worth so much as right now. Just at this time, when thousands of people find it hard work to make a living, they are looking back to the farm. The city job often lays one off, but back on the farm, there is always something to do, and a job open at a living wage. Out on the farm one can live cheaply, and there are farms enough in this country to feed the broke city dweller, and the sooner they know this the better.

HADN'T FOUND A GOLD MINE.

Birmingham News

While looking for information for its monthly financial review recently a Minneapolis bank found a community in Minnesota where there were twenty-five farmers, worth over fifty thousand dollars each, living within a radius of ten miles.

Naturally this discovery aroused the interest of the bankers and they began to inquire into the reasons for the great prosperity of this little nest of agriculturists.

Now, what do you reckon they found?

That the farmers had discovered a gold mine?

That they had unearthed a lot of diamonds?

That they had discovered radium deposits on their places?

That they had found the treasures of Captain Kidd?

No.

Not one of these miracles had taken place.

Indeed, there wasn't anything extraordinary about the matter when the facts were laid bare.

It was just an instance in which a number of men residing in the same vicinity, had displayed the same brand of horse sense—or perhaps, it would be more appropriate to say hog sense.

For the prosperity of these farmers, each of whom is rated at more than fifty thousand dollars, rests largely upon the hog.

Some of them are regularly turning out pork to the amount of $3,000 and $5,000 upon a quarter section of land, and this while raising the regulation crops for that section of the country. And here in was the secret of their extraordinary prosperity. Hogs, by the way, can be produced in the South.

DIED AT BEST AFTER PASSING 50 MILE POST.

Montgomery Journal

Is life at best after passing the 50 mile post? In the opinion of Dr. Griffin, as expressed in his book entitled "The House We Live In" just published it is, and one hardly knows the real intellectual enjoyments and pleasures of life until after he has passed fifty, and even sixty.

Dr. Griffin draws a very glowing picture of the happiness that comes to man after passing his half century mark and in this he differs somewhat with Dr. Osler, who contends that not only man's physical but intellectual energies begin to fall him at even an earlier age.

Dr. Griffin in his book, has this to say:

Neither the beauty of spring, flowers nor the splendor of summer harvests, equal the mellow abundance of autumn's glory. For personal enjoyment and exercise of the nobler powers, human life is at its best after fifty, and, if personal experience be the criterion, the wiser could say, after sixty.

Not for command, or for the executive initiation neither for and not pleasure, not for worldly amusements, not for easy conformity to the tyranny of social custom but for pure delight in the higher realms of happiness, no previous period in life no April May, or even June or July of existence, can compare with its glorious October.

Then are at their best the treasures of memory and of hope, the rich fruition of intellectual culture, the satisfying pleasures of the mind and the raptures of faith. From these resources in spread the table of life as never before, and for the daily banquet at which sits as guest the infinite friend of man.

Life, as it lengthens in perspective, becomes more interesting, and its outlook grander. There is ever more that one wishes to live for here or hereafter. If one has cultivated his mind and taken a wide view of history and humanity, then for him the drudgery of text books, the grammar and dictionary are largely over. He sees with clear vision where he once groped for a clue. He enters into his intellectual inheritance. Where was the sowing is now the reaping—sheaves borne where once tears fell. It is no longer the left, under tutors and governors but the possession of riches, of which no slump in the market, no panics or national convulsions can rob him.

Commenting on the foregoing the Columbus Enquirer says very truly:

To have lived well for two and one-half or three score years to have sown wisely and cultivated diligently, and then to be ready to reap the harvest of a well spent life to have the treasures of memory and of hope gathered at his feet as the doctor presents it, is quite a pleasing prospect to those who are preparing ere long to make the journey to that country from where no traveler ever returns.

They know that they have but a little while even at most, still they are enjoying the fruitage of a life that has been spent as life was intended to be spent, and they contemplate final dissolution with little or no regret. They look upon their going as the entry into fuller joys and pleasures. Such a man or such a woman can have a very full appreciation of the closing verses of William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis." So live that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves to the pale realms of shade, where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death, Thou go not, like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon but sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

WILSON AND THE NEGROES.

Scholar Journal

We presume that the negro from Boston W. Monroe Trotter, who appeared at the White House, Thursday with a delegation of negroes, from an alleged Equal Rights Association, to 'demand' certain things of President Wilson, is now convinced that there is not much to be gained by this, or rather the man who sits in the chair of president of the United States.

It matters little that there has not been any segregation of the races to amount to anything in any of the departments. There has been more talk of segregation than there has action. It wouldn't be much better if there had been segregation and less talk about it. Trotter's spirit was that of an impatient almost insulting nature. He seemed to have an idea that the way to gain favor of the president was to attempt to scare him about votes in the future. The president is not a man to be frightened by a few, or by many, negro voters.

Looks like the negro from Boston would have known that he was not invited to the White House, that he was not at his own office, and that he was not a monarch granting an audience to a subject, but that he was permitted to come into the white house and into the presence of the president to make him a request or to present a petition. Not many people get by with open insult to the president and Trotter has doubtless made his last journey to the white house while Wilson is president.

The Cotton Exchange is thought to put a little more confidence in business. It will at least let the world know what cotton is worth, or what it is selling at.

GIRLS IN BAD HEALTH.

Hundreds of girls go to work day after day, afflicted with some ailment peculiar to their sex dragging one foot after the other, working always with one eye on the clock and wishing for closing time to come. Every such girl should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her to a normal healthy condition. For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Why don't you try it?

THE DAY

(Written by Henry Chappell, a railway porter who has sprung suddenly into fame in his native city. Bath, with these verses:)

You boasted the Day and you toasted the Day,

And now the Day has come.

Blasphemer, braggart and coward all,

Little you reck of the numbing half.

The blasting shell and the "White Arm's" fall,

As they speed poor humans home.

You spled for the Day and you lied for the Day,

And woke the Day's red spleen.

Monster, who asked God's aid divine,

Then strowed His seas with the ghastly mine,

Not all the waters of all the Rhine Can wash thy foul hands clean.

You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day,

Watch how the Day shall go.

Slayer of age and youth and prime (Defenseless, slain for never a crime)

Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime,

False friend and cowardly foe.

You have sown for the Day, you have grown for the Day,

Yours is the harvest red.

Can you hear the groans and the awful cries?

Can you see the heap of slain that lies.

And, sightless, turned to their flame-split skies,

The glassy eyes of the dead?

You have wronged for the Day, you have longed for the Day

That lit the awful flame.

'Tis nothing to you that hill and plain

Yield sheaves of dead amid the grain;

That widows mourn for their loved ones slain,

And mothers curse thy name.

But after the Day there's a price to pay

For the sleepers under the sod,

And he you have mocked for many a day

Listen and hear what He has to say

"Vengeance is mine—I will repay."

What can you say to God?

Miss Evelyn McRae, of McRae, Ga., has been visiting her cousin, Miss Barton, Harrison, for several days.

Mrs. W. C. Fritter, Mrs. Morris Black, Mrs. J. R. Young, and Miss Evelyn Farmer left this afternoon to attend the Federation of Women's Clubs which opens in Montgomery Tuesday.

A lovely picture of Mrs. Robert F. Dade appeared in Sunday's Montgomery Advertiser. Mrs. Dade was formerly Miss Marie Newman of Abbeville, and has many friends in Dothan.

The many friends of Mrs. Will Dade will regret to learn that she has been indisposed for several days suffering with an attack of sore

Entertainments for Visitors to Federation—

Montgomery Advertiser.

The social side of the convention of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held in Montgomery this week promises to be very delightful and a number of events have been planned in honor of the visiting club women. On Wednesday afternoon, the City Federation of Women's Clubs will entertain at an automobile ride from four to six o'clock.

The visitors will first be taken to the country Club where a committee headed by Mrs. Clayton Tullis and composed of Mrs. Emmet O'Neal, Mrs. J. S. Pinckard, Mrs. W. C. Oates, Jr., Mrs. H. T. Bartlett, Mrs. J. K. Jackson, Mrs. Bessie K. Masie, Mrs. Morris Baldwin, Mrs. John Flowers, Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. L. G. Gardner, Mrs. T. C. McClellan, Mrs. Nash Read, and Mrs. Harry Houghton will receive them.

After spending a short time here, they will be taken to the Woodley Country Club where Mrs. Phil Stern and a committee composed of Mrs. Emil Wise, Miss Della Mohr, Mrs. A. B. Meyer, Miss Amelia Meyer, Mrs. Leon Weil and Mrs. Ernest Mayer and Miss Beulah Moritz will act as hostesses.

They will then visit the Woman's College, where the members of the faculty will act as a reception committee.

On Wednesday evening at 9:15 o'clock a brilliant reception will be at the Exchange Hotel for the delegates. The Executive Board of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs will form the receiving line, assisted by the Executive Board of the Montgomery Federation of Women's Clubs. The presidents of the various literary clubs of the city will preside at the tea and coffee tables, and assist in entertaining the guests. A committee of club women will also assist in entertaining the visitors, seeing that the club women meet each other and that they feel "at home." This committee is composed of Mrs. John Durr, Mrs. Julian Rice, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Miss Elizabeth Andrew, Miss Stella Meyer, Mrs. Crawford T. Ruff, Mrs. Clayton Tullis, Mrs. Phil Stern, Mrs. Will Stratford, Mrs. L. B. Whitfield, Mrs. Fred Ball, Mrs. Burwell Boykin, Mrs. J. A. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Henry Hobbie, Miss Martha Bruce, Mrs. Garner Wade, Mrs. T. J. Reynolds, Mrs. A. B. Meyer and Mrs. W. J. Hannah.

Federation Plans. With all arrangements completed Montgomery club women are awaiting with eagerness the opening meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs on Tuesday evening. The wonderful convenience of the hotel plan enables every club woman to regard herself as hostess as large whose duties are only pleasures, for she is to welcome the visitors and enjoy with them the Federation meetings.

To all those the public is cordially invited. We are so proud of our work and of the capable and earnest women who have given themselves to it that we are anxious for all Montgomery to come and see. The opening evening will be brilliant. Our gifted president, Mrs. Haley, will deliver her opening address and present as the guest-speaker that wonderful woman, Dr. Carolyn Gelsch. On the following evening after a concert of state-wide musical talent there will be a reception to which all Montgomeryans are invited—come and we

KILL NEXT YEAR'S PESTS THIS FALL

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside D. S. Burch, associate editor of that publication, writing under the title "Kill Next Year's Pests Now," gives the most minute and practical suggestions as to how to go about it this fall to prepare against invasions next year by grasshoppers, chinch bugs, cotton boll weevils and other pests. The secret is to keep them from going into winter quarters, and he tells how this may be done. The facts that he records about these various insects and worms that injure our crops are enormously interesting. Of the cotton boll weevil he says: "This scourge of the cotton fields is in its active adult form a brownishish spout-nosed beetle a quarter of an inch long. In the spring the weevils that live through the winter lay eggs in the young bolls, and sometimes after the bolls have opened. In either case the larvae from the eggs do great damage."

"Thoroughly clean up the cotton fields in the fall and burn all the stalks and trash. Winter plowing early planting, frequent cultivation, and anything else to promote the vigor and hasten the maturity of cotton will reduce the damage."

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

TAKE A GLASS OF SALT TO FLUSH KIDNEYS IF BLADDER BOTHERS YOU.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder bothers you.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.
